MILWAUKEE, April 20.—The dreadful storm of last night carried away the house built on top of the crib at the mouth of the tunnel about three-quarters of a mile from the pumping works at the foot of North street and fourteen men were drowned. The shore of the lake is strewn with timbers, boards, tools and articles of clothing worn by the men in the ill-fated crib. The catastrophe is supposed to have occurred about 5 o'clock

MEMBEN, Miss., April 20.—A fightthis morning.

At daybreak the men at the pumping the crib had disappeared. The news was soon known to the public and it was an anxious crowd that atood on it can shore and looked seaward this morning.
The speciators were relatives of the men who were in peril and patiatic scenes were witnessed. The sea was the most awild one anybody in the vicinity had ever seen. The waves were fully fifteen feet high and dashed over the crib is a couple of posts that supported the house and one of the pumps. Two large boliers, the engine, one of two pumps, the air compressor plant and 20,000 brick that were on the crib have been washed off.

Shortly after 9 o'clock one of the spectators who was looking at the crib exclaimed, "I see a man." Others strained their eyes and sure enough they could see the figure of a man moving cautiously about on the crib. It was only by cinging to the few remaining timbers that he was saved from below washed. He was save o'clock, and the waves came with great frequency and awful force. Just before the house disappeared Mrs. Stebbens saw several boards from the sides of the build-The opening thus mad seemed to give the angry waves the oppor-tunity it socgat, and with one mighty effort the house was lifted into the air and a second later the building disap peared as if swept away by an avalanch Less than 10 minutes after the house was wiped out the entire machinery and whatever else was left was lifted bodily into the air with the force of the waves and wind and hurled into the raging sea.

The tug Welcome was dispatched to the scene, and on account of the frightful seas took a life boat with a crew of five in tow. The battle of the Welcome against the angry waves was watched by thousands of people on shore whom the time fifteen inches had failen. After two three hours of intermission it began to the pours of intermission it began to the property that the property had desired the property of the property and the property and the property of the property and the property and the property of the property and the property and the property of the property and the property and the property of the property and the property and the property of the property and the property of the property report of the account had drawn thither. When Captain Peterson, after almost superliuman efforts succeeded in reaching the crib by means of a rope, and with a life preserver around his body, he met a horrible sight. One man, James Miller, was still alive, and clinging to a pos about him were the corpses of two or three of his comrades. Miller was rescued and conveyed to the Emergency hespital, where he gave the following account of the accident tonight:

will was 5 o'clock in the morning whe he found water entering the airtight compartment of the shaft where we had taken refuge for the night. We took a vote to decide whether we would risk leaving the It was decided to leave and only five of us succeeded in reaching the out side. # VERY HEAVY SNOW.

Three Feet of Snow on a Level in Minine- Minister Egan Was Instructed Not to

Sr. PAUL, April 20. - Three feet of snow or three hours of intermission it began again and the air tonight is once more full of flying snow. The street railway was caught unprepared, so no cars were able to run regularly during the morning.

At Minneapois there was even a worse experience. No cars were running up to i o'clock and at Stillwater the cars were snowed up in the street, being caught in all parts of the city. The storm struck Duluth and the lake cities at noon and raged furiously there all the afternoon. All over the state the storm's progress was unprecedented. The storm will delay farm work from ten days to two weeks. Altogether the farmers are feeling rather blue over the prospect for a wheat crop.

wheat crop. In the cities the storm caused almost omplete suspension of business this morning, but things are picking up somewhat this afternoon. The railroads did not suffer on the morning trains, but those due in the afternoon were nearly all late from one to five hours. The storm was widespread, covering almost the entire northwest.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 20.-A terrific now and windstorm is raging in this city and throughout eastern and northern lows. Crops will be greatly retarded by the storm and much damage will be done to the fruit.

All farming operations are suspended.
